

wherein the first address is different from content associated with the first address, pre-fetching ownership of a memory the second address Figure 4 410 420 second address in an address queue, comparing a first address associated associated with a second transaction receiving a first transaction from an with the first transaction against a wherein the second address is Machine-readable medium ordered interface

430